Excerpt: .See form on opposite page. way as the Invoice Record. The difference between the first two columns on the left, and the extreme right column being the balance due. The first three distributive columns are for items that do not belong to any one department--the third column being for items that become a Permanent Asset. 523. The names of all creditors are entered in the column headed In favor of. If goods are purchased on time, and the amounts are to be credited to open accounts, the amount of the invoice is placed in the Open Acocunts Payable column, and the distribution made in the proper department columns. If the goods are to be paid for promptly the amount of invoice is entered in the Audited Vouchers Payable column, and the proper extensions made in the department columns. The total of Open Accounts is posted at the end of the month to a Controlling Account under that heading in the General Ledger, and the total of Audited Vouchers is posted also to a Controlling Account in the General Ledger. When a freight bill is paid it is entered in the Freight Column and distribution made in the department columns, and at the end of the month the total of this column is posted to the credit of Freight Account, and offsets and balances the total of the freight column posted from the Cash Book to the debit of Freight Account--this adds the freight to the...
